Muir-Herschleb.

Miss Edna Muir and Wilbur E. Herschleb were married on Tuesday at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. C. B. Blakelee officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Jeanette Muir and Miss Elizabeth Herschleb, and the groom by his brother, Jerry Herschleb and Kirk Muir, brother of the bride. Genevieve Telfer acted as ring bearer.

Both of the contracting parties in this wedding are well known in this city and are among our best young people. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Muir and a most estimable young lady, while the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Herschleb and is one of our rising young business men, and a steady and reliable young man.

Mr. and Mrs. Herschleb left on the afternoon train over the Northwestern for Canada, where they expect to spend two weeks visiting with Mr. Herschleb's relatives, after which they will return to this city to take up their residence.

The Tribune unites with their many friends in extending the heartiest of congratulations.

Met a Horrible Death.

August Redlich, a young man 21 years of age, met with a horrible death in the paper mill at Merrill last week. At the time of his death he was assisting the back tender in turning some felt on the paper machine. To do this he had to lay on his stomach on the "web board," and the other employees were under the machinery. When ready he gave a pull, and in some manner his hand became entangled or caught, and before any of the employees realized he had been pulled between two rollers head first. The machinery was stopped, and the rollers were unloosed and the dead body taken out. His head, shoulders, arms and chest were crushed, many of the bones were broken and his flesh was scratched considerably. Death was instantaneous. He is survived by a wife and child.

Rev. Evans Resigns.

Rev. Richard Evans, who has had charge of the Methodist church in this city during the past two years, has tendered his resignation, same to take effect as soon as his successor is appointed.

Mr. Evans has accepted the presidency of the Folts Mission Institute at Herkimer, New York, and this necessitates his resigning here.

During the time Mr. Evans and his estimable wife have been in this city they have made many friends both in the church and out of it, and there are many who will be sorry to learn that the family is to leave. The best wishes of a host of friends will go with them to their new home.

May Have the Next Convention.

If Grand Rapids does not have the Eagles convention next year it will not be because Messrs. Sickles and Lutz, the two delegates from this city, will not make an effort for it. They are using their utmost endeavors to get a good turnout to the meeting at Waupaca next week and the indications are that there will be a large crowd.

Thursday is the big day of the convention, and from the program that has been published it is evident that there will be something doing the greater part of the time. The band will go over from here and with the Eagles and visitors there should be a train load.

Biron-Hemaway.

On Tuesday in Chicago occurred the marriage of Mrs. Beulah Biron of this city and Mr. G. C. Hemaway of Colorado Springs, Col., the wedding occurring at the Virginia hotel. Mr. Hemaway at one time made his home in Port Edwards, where his father managed the John Edwards plant and is known to some of our older inhabitants, and the bride was born and reared in this city. There are many friends here who will wish them a long life of happiness and will join with the Tribune in extending the heartiest of congratulations.

GETS MORE MONEY

Bogoger Given Larger Damages Than That Awarded by the Board of Public Works

The jury in the case of the City of Grand Rapids against M. A. Bogoger brought in a verdict on Friday for Mr. Bogoger, awarding him the sum of $5,200 for his property, instead of the $4,600 as awarded by the board of public works.

Several days were consumed in the trying out of the case, and the jury was taken to the premises and looked matters over and a lot of expert testimony was submitted for the consideration of those concerned, and the jury debated the matter for several hours, so that the matter was thoroughly aired and the verdict should be nearly right.

As to whether this is too much or too little is a matter on which citizens about the town are not agreed, some claiming that the amount awarded by the board of public works was an abundance for the property, while others are of the opinion that the amount given by the jury is nearer what Mr. Bogoger is entitled to.

It is probable that the matter will be carried to the supreme court, where the matter will be definitely settled.

Federation Meeting.

Another very successful meeting of the City Federation of Women's Clubs was held at the home of Mrs. John Arpin Sr., on Friday afternoon, June 11th. The kindness of Mrs. Arpin in opening her home to the Federation was very much appreciated by the ladies and all seemed anxious to contribute their part to the pleasure of the afternoon.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with spruce and snow balls.

All officers were present and performed their respective duties. At a brief business session, a communication from Supt. H. S. Youker was read, presenting the Federation with a very handsome gavel from the Manual Training school, a compliment very much appreciated by the ladies.

It has been the custom of the Federation to devote the June meeting to Civic Improvement topics, it being the season of the year when our thoughts naturally turn to the improvement of our lawns, streets, parks, etc. The chairman of the Civic committee gave a brief report of their work, she did not, however, dwell so much upon the work accomplished, as the projected plans for the future. The committee are to be congratulated upon the excellent program they had planned for the afternoon.

Most practical subjects had been chosen and much thought and care had been given to the preparation of the papers. These papers will be found full of interest to all who are interested in civic betterment and the development of a more beautiful and healthful city. They will appear in full later and we bespeak for them a thoughtful reading.

The musical numbers furnished by Mrs. Thornburgh and Miss Natick added greatly to the pleasure of the afternoon. The north side division had charge of the reception. Dainty refreshments were served to about sixty-five ladies and a pleasant social hour followed.

Fire at Oberbecks.

What might have been a serious conflagration at the Oberbeck factory was nipped in the bud on Monday evening by the prompt response of the two fire departments, the flames being extinguished before any serious damage was done to the building, although there was a considerable loss owing to the fact that the stock in the factory was wet by the water used in extinguishing the fire.

The fire alarm sounded at 7:45, and when the department arrived a few minutes afterward dense smoke was issuing from the ventilators at both ends of the mill. Several lines of hose were at once strung and such good work was done that inside of twenty minutes the fire was practically all out.

The fire was between the ceiling of the third floor and the roof, its origin is not known at this time, although an investigation is being made. The loss cannot be told at this time, although it will be considerable, as the water running onto the manufactured ware and furniture in the process of manufacture is very damaging.

It was a very lucky outcome that the building was not burned to the ground, as so large that the fire could not have been coped with. The firemen are to be commended on their promptness and the effective work they did after arriving at the fire.

Improvements Completed.

The additions which have been under construction at the First National Bank for the past few weeks have been completed. Visitors and customers are expressing themselves as highly pleased with the facilities provided for them, and well they might as every possible convenience is there for their free use.

The ladies' room is something new for this section and will be found in only a few of the more progressive banks throughout the country. The men's room will also be found very useful to farmers and business men who wish a private office in which to talk over business matters, write a letter, or use the telephone.

Besides these special rooms, the bank has added a long section of counter with two new windows. This will enable the officers and employees to give the public better and quicker service.

Improvements of this nature are not only a credit to the bank but to the whole city, and are appreciated by all our citizens.

WE WILL CELEBRATE

Meeting Held and Committees Appointed for a Big Celebration on the Fourth

Some people had begun to think that Grand Rapids was not going to have a celebration, but they were mistaken, and already the plans for the same are well under way.

A meeting was held at the city hall on Friday evening at which there was a good attendance of our citizens, the object being to see if there was a desire for a celebration in this city. Everybody present was in favor of holding a celebration, and as there was a sum of money amounting to $412 left over from last year's fund, this looked like a good start for this year.

It is the intention this year to give an old-time celebration with no attempt to furnish elaborate outside attractions that will only prove a disappointment to the committee having them in charge.

The committees appointed were as follows:

Soliciting—Otto Roenius, Raes, etc.—Jos. Cohen, Baseball and Band—Dr. P. Pomainville.
Fireworks—C. F. Kruger.
Auto Parade—Rob Nash.
Advertising—J. R. Ragan.
Ballroom and Races—E. E. Ames, W. C. Boyce and J. R. Ragan.
Small Events—A. D. Hill, Jos. Cohen and L. J. Goodness.

The race track at the fair grounds is being fixed up and when completed there will be a track four-tenths of a mile long. It is the intention to hold some races. One of these will be a harness running race. There will be three prizes, $15, $10 and $5. This will be for farmers only, both the horse and driver having had to be on a farm for thirty days previous to the race.

Then there will be a free for all running race, prizes, the names in the other race. It is expected that other events will be pulled off, but the arrangements have not been completed at this time.

Mayor Pomainville has been in communication with Dorothy DeVonda of Oshago, Mich., and the contract is all but closed for this lady to come here and give a balloon ascension and parachute drop, taking up and sending it down in a separate parachute. Miss DeVonda has been here before and made ascensions and given the best of satisfaction, always fulfilling her contract to the letter.

There will be attractions not mentioned here, mention of which will be made next week.

Cherry Tree Swindle.

A couple of agents purporting to represent the Home Nursery Co. of Lombington, Ill., and the Eastern Proving & Planting Co. of Painesville, have been taking contracts from Wood county farmers for cherry trees for fall delivery, with the understanding that a cherry growing factory will be erected at Marshfield in degree of the product when the trees are three years old. Many contracts were secured at from $60 to $100 each. The state board of horticulture has advised the farmers that this is a swindle and suggests that the contracts be formally cancelled at once. In the first place the company charged about three times what the trees were worth, and in the second place the alleged contract to erect a growing factory at Marshfield in three years, on close reading, does not obligate the company to do anything of the kind, in those years or any other add time.—Stevens Point Journal.

Notice to Fruit Growers.

The State Horticultural Society has recently distributed to its members Bulletin No. 16 describing the cyathid shell bark disease. It appears that this insect is an old-timer in Wisconsin, having first acquired a residence at Kenosha in 1880.

It has now become a serious orchard pest attacking principally the apple and pear. The insect, which comes in the shape of a cyathid shell, attaches itself to the bark frequently completely encircling it and often causing the death of the tree.

The remedy consists in spraying with a combination of lime and sulphur. Directions for preparing this and other remedies as well as illustrations and description of the insect are given in the bulletin. Secretary Frederick Granchfield, whose office is at Madison informs us that copies of the bulletin may be had free by any of our readers on request. A postal card is sufficient. Ask for bulletin No. 16.

BIRON

Miss Bernice Klappa returned from a visit at Milwaukee last Friday. School closed in this burg last Friday with a picnic of which the whole community partook. A short program was rendered and about an hour was taken up with various races for the children, the winners receiving prizes. Evidently every one enjoyed themselves immensely.

Miss Lillian Clapp of your city is visiting with the Archie Shearer family at present.

Master Henry Meyers of your city is visiting at the J. T. Heron home. Mrs. Joe Akey of your city was in this burg on business last Thursday. Lloyd Brooks, who has taught here the past year, left for Stevens Point Monday where he will visit for some time.

Mrs. Horace Weaver has returned from an extended visit with her parents at Radcliff.

Our primary teacher, Miss Sadie Reuter, was the guest of Miss Martha Akey here last Monday.

At back a trust of late that had traced from his fastening, Vernon saw the dash of her white checked gown and got, as you know, drawn together wistfully, and in her two eyes, that looked far away through the meshes of her dotted veil, here was a little cloud of trouble. She caught her lip tightly between the edges of her teeth. Vernon leaned slightly forward as if he would peer into her face. For him the day had flown suddenly long, the spring had developed on the instant the oppressive heat of summer. He felt his face; he could see its intensity vibrating in his face all about him, and a sense of all the summer's voices drowning in his mind. The reins dropped from his hand; his fingers; the horse moped about as if pained.

"I have always felt it, vaguely," Vernon declared.

Must Tell Where They Get Their Drinks.

Marshfield, N. Y.: A case of considerable importance was recently decided by Judge Reid of Wausau, sitting for Judge O'Neill of Neillsville. The case is entitled Charles Gates against John Hummel, marshal of Neillsville, Gates having sued the marshal for $2,000 damages for alleged false imprisonment. The plaintiff is said to have been a hard drinker and notices prohibiting the sale of liquor to him were distributed to the saloonkeepers in the town. He, however, procured liquor and his arrest was caused by Marshal John Hummel under the statute providing for such resource to compel a prohibited person who gets liquor to tell from whom he got it. Refusing to do so, Gates was incarcerated and languished in jail for forty-five days before he would do so. Then he told that the liquor was not sold to him but that he secured it himself in a saloon where he worked a couple of hours each day taking a bottle when the bartender went for his meals.

The jury in the damage suit gave him a verdict of $2,000. Judge Reid set aside the verdict and gave judgment for the defendant on the grounds of no cause for action. Officers of the law say that it does not appear to be commonly known that there is a law that gives them authority to arrest a prohibited person to compel him to disclose the identity of the saloonkeeper who sold him the liquor.

SKIN DISEASES.

Their Cause and Effect.

—We not infrequently hear persons afflicted with chronic eczema, psoriasis, salt rheum, ulcers, etc., say they have expended from $100.00 to $500.00 in doctor's bills and remedies, and invariably the treatment has been external—an ointment or a lotion. No consideration of attention was paid to the blood—the source from which the skin derives nourishment. In answer to the question, "Did you derive any benefit from such treatment?" "Oh, yes," he cured the disease for a month or two, and then it broke out worse than ever." The reason of this would be readily understood by any intelligent person, and is the difference between cause and effect. Had the disease been attacked in the blood, which is the cause of these skin and blood diseases, these sufferers would have had a different story to tell. Dr. Taylor's remedy eliminates the poison from the blood—removes the cause—and the effect of this poison readily disappears from the surface of the skin. Guaranteed to cure. Send to our office, 1330 Arch St., Philadelphia, for booklet. Sold by DALY DRUG & JEWELRY CO. and by all first class druggists.

A CITY PLAN.

Paper Read by Mrs. Geo. W. Mead at the Civic Meeting of the City Federation of Women's Clubs.

When the President of the American Civic Federation, Mr. J. Horace McFarland, was in Grand Rapids, he was enthusiastic over the beauty and the possible greater beauty of our little city. He admired our situation, revealed in the beautiful drives along our river both north and south, and saw opportunities for Grand Rapids to be one of the beauty spots of Wisconsin. He suggested that we are just at the beginning of our Civic Improvement, we employ an artist, who by long experience and a talent for artistic grouping and planning, could lay out a plan for our city, which would conserve and enhance all of our natural beauty, locate our public buildings, lay out our streets in an artistic manner taking especial notice of grades and sanitation, and giving us a definite aim to work towards a beautiful, beautiful, wholesome Grand Rapids.

Does this not sound attractive to all of us? Has not our visitor struck the keynote of the situation? Our citizens have caught the enthusiasm which is sweeping the country, to beautify American and our own city. We have begun to realize that houses and stores and factories are not the only requisites of a town in which to live; but that comfort, health, restful and beautiful outlook for the eye, and occasional resting places such as parks, etc., are just as necessary for the abiding place of the best citizens. We are only at the beginning of our growth, we have before us some time in the future, the building of new public buildings, we are going to have a postoffice, a public library building, some new churches, and many things as the town grows; we want some parks and numerous pleasure grounds, and how much better it would be to have a definite, well laid out plan, toward which we might work, so that what ever is done, will never have to be undone, but has accomplished its part toward a future completeness. When an individual is planning the house in which he is to dwell, he plans the floor space which he is to need, suggests the necessary requirements, then hands these over to an architect, who with skill and talent, also arranges this plan as to bring about a symmetrical, useful and beautiful home.

In the re-arranging of our city we are all of us, building a home for ourselves and our children, there is not one of us, who can fail to enjoy its every comfort, every portion of it is for the enjoyment of us all, and should we not be prudent, and employ an artist, who will accept the requirements we give him, and lay out a plan for us, that will so embrace our present advantages as to make them more valuable, locate the placing of every building so that it shows off to the best possible advantage, plan the streets in the outskirts of our city, so as the town grows, there will be a place for it to grow too, so that the inner city may not become crowded and unwholesome, because of the planning of humanity.

Many of the large cities, in fact all of them who have any consideration for the comforts and moral growth of their citizens, have spent enormous amounts in wiping out the congested districts, in providing breathing spaces, play spots, for purifying humanity. As the cities have grown, the center has become more and more shut in, until where before the children could go into the outlying fields and woods for freedom and fresh air, now these places are so closely filled in that they would have to go miles for a bit of verdure. The cities realize that these shut-in conditions become the breeding places of vice of all kinds, for the protection of its own citizenship, they are wiping out these prison-like districts, but at the cost of millions of dollars put into a tearing down. How much better for these cities to have had a plan which would have provided for their growth without allowing so crowded a section, and the sums they are now expending to reclaim and tear down, could be used toward the general improvement of their city.

Not very many years ago, we all thought to ornament our home grounds by planting shrubs in various places about the lawn, a rose here, some lilac bushes there, a flower garden running along the sides of our walk or in the center of our green lawn. It remained for one of our good citizens of the west side to show us how much more beautiful grounds could be made, when these shrubs deers were artistically grouped together. When there was a place for each particular shrub, where it would grow best and where it would best enhance the beauty of that part of the garden. It was an eye opener to us, that "Shrubbery could be so handsome a potted subject for a home. Is there a more attractive picture than this lawn from the opening of spring all through the summer, the successive blossoms opening in their season, until the beautiful fall colorings give May up to the calling of winter when the snail pretty red berries still cling to the year bushes and challenge the snow and hail winds.

As a design for one home has made its premises more beautiful so a ray, whole town well planned is equally improved. The new public buildings are grouped in such a manner that each one instead of reflecting only its individual beauty so harmonizes with the other surrounding structures in architecture as to increase the beauty and value of all of them. We would not like to lose our own individuality by having an outsider lay out our city for us, but individual architecture is very strongly maintained by good architects. They seek side to discover the distinct charm of the to make it individual. They are glad to cooperate with the suggestions of the interested citizens and will follow them as far as they are reasonable.

Naturally the objection which might come from some of our citizens would be from the thought of expense. Can we afford a city plan? But if we could overlook the present outlay in a cautious glance into the future I think the thought would be that we can hardly afford to go on working without it. As the town develops the green spots and park possibilities that could be reserved now at small cost will have so increased in value that it will take so much more outlay that it will seem impossible to acquire them.

Again there may be much done now that would be wiser to have left undone, in our zeal for having things square and that we may destroy some of the graceful curves and pretty grades that any amount of money could not replace. An architect places the streets so as to save any possible shrubbery or trees that come in the path where a reckless engineer destroys anything that interferes with his exact lines, yet in destroying it he deprives that street of a shade tree or a pretty natural growth, that nothing could replace. He knows the value of a pretty knoll or rise of ground that left in its natural state, breaks a monotony while we in our zeal to have things square and flat would spend money to level.

Could anything be more dreadful than the destruction of some of the beautiful trees of our city by an unskilled tree trimmer? Something equally as destructive might be done by us in our thought to improve the city. We cannot hope to accomplish everything that a plan would call for in a few years. It will take many years, in fact our generation may see only the beginning accomplished. Washington, our capital city, is still working to carry out the plan laid by the Father of our Country, but it behooves us to furnish the nucleus and as years go on all that is done will be permanently done. We will be educating ourselves and our sons and daughters to habits of city thrift and cultivating desire for the preservation and planning of the beautiful.

Let us remember that there is nothing so elevating to self respect as thrifty surroundings. Every individual unconsciously raises his standard of living in the midst of cleanliness and orderliness.

Each property owner will take a greater pride in the maintenance of his own dwelling. He will be happier in it, his home will mean more to him. He will walk with his head up and have greater respect for himself and his neighbors.

As succeeding generations follow they will inherit the desire for better conditions and they will push the work along with even greater zeal than we; it will have become a necessity with them, not a luxury.

Besides the pleasure that improvements will give to us as residents, there will come much increase in the valuation of property; there will be no slums or worthless sections, all property near the parks or decorative spots instantly becomes worth more. A thrifty, beautiful town is an attraction to business men looking for location. People like to live in pleasant surroundings and when selecting a home choose one that is attractive, increasing population naturally increases business and property valuation. It has been shown by those towns who have given thought to decoration that the money paid out for these things has been reimbursed in a short time by the added value given to adjoining property.

Grand Rapids has all the natural opportunities that could possibly be bestowed on any location for becoming a thoroughly beautiful city. We are favored above most cities; let us make the most of our advantages and build a city beautiful that shall not only be a source of pride to ourselves but to all about us. Let us consider that we are building our home and each one do his utmost to make that home the most comfortable and livable possible.

When there was a place for each particular shrub, where it would grow best and where it would best enhance the beauty of that part of the garden.

"The beauty of that part of the garden," said it, "was an eye opener to us, that shrubbery could be so handsome as this." There is a more attractive picture than this lawn.

"From the opening of spring all through the summer, the successive blossoms opening in their season, until the beautiful fall colorings give up to the calling of winter when the small pretty red berries still cling to the year bushes and challenge the snow and hail winds.

As a design for one home has made its premises more beautiful, so a whole town well planned is equally improved. All of the beauty spots are brought out to the best advantage, the low places and high places are there could not be utilized and dumping very few left for waste places and dumping grounds are redeemed, ravines are made slightly open places, here and there are taken advantage of for little green resting spots and spaces for children's play grounds.

The new public buildings are grouped in such a manner that each one is a masterpiece of beauty, and the individual beauty so harmonizes with the other surrounding structures in the architecture, so as to increase tenfold the beauty and value of all of them.

"We would not like to live on our own hill, individually by having an outside fence, but we would like to live in a city where the beauty is so strongly maintained by good architecture. They seek to discover the distinct charm of the town and so design the outline as to make it individual. They are glad to co-operate with the suggestions of the interested citizens and will follow them as far as they are reasonable.

Naturally the objection which might come from some of our citizens would be from the thought of expense. Can we afford a city plan? But if we could overlook the present outlay in a cautious glance into the future I think the thought would be that we can hardly afford to go on working without it. As the town develops the green spots and park possibilities that could be reserved now at small cost will have so increased in value that it will take so much more outlay than it will acquire impossible to acquire them.

Again there may be much done now that would be wiser to have left undone, in our zeal for having things square and flat we may destroy some of the graceful curves and pretty grades that any amount of money could not replace. An architect places the streets so as to take any possible shrubbery or trees that come in the path where a reckless engineer destroys anything that interferes with his exact lines; yet in destroying it he deprives that street of a shade tree or a pretty natural growth, that nothing could replace. He knows the value of a pretty knoll or rise of ground that left in its natural state, breaks a monotony while we in our zeal to have things square and flat would spend money to level.

Could anything be more dreadful than the destruction of some of the beautiful trees of our city by an unskilled tree trimmer?

Something equally as destructive might be done by us in our thought to improve the city.

We cannot hope to accomplish everything that a plan would call for in a few years. It will take many years, in fact our generation may see only the beginning accomplished. Washington, our capital city, is still working to carry out the plan left by the Father of Our Country, but it behooves us to furnish the nucleus and as years go on all that is done will be permanently done. We will be educating ourselves and our sons and daughters to habits of city thrift and cultivating desire for the preservation and planning of the beautiful.

Let us remember that there is nothing so elevating to self respect as thrifty surroundings. Every individual unconsciously raises his standard of living in the midst of cleanliness and orderliness.

Each property owner will take a greater pride in the maintenance of his own dwelling. He will be happier in it, his home will mean more to him. He will walk with his head up and have greater respect for himself and his neighbors.

As succeeding generations follow they will inherit the desire for better conditions and they will push the work we; it will have become a necessity with them, not a luxury.

Besides the pleasure that improvements will give to us as residents, there will come much increase in the valuation of property; there will be no slums or worthless sections, all property near the parks or decorative spots instantly becomes worth more. A thrifty, beautiful town is an attraction to business men looking for location. People like to live in pleasant surroundings and when selecting a home choose one that is attractive, increasing population naturally increases business and property valuation. It has been shown by those towns who have given thought to decoration that the money paid out for these things has been reimbursed in a short time by the added value given to adjoining property.

Grand Rapids has all the natural opportunities that could possibly be bestowed on any location for becoming a thoroughly beautiful city. We are favored above most cities; let us make the most of our advantages and build a city beautiful that shall not only be a source of pride to ourselves but to all about us. Let us consider that we are building our home and each one do his utmost to make that home the most comfortable and livable possible.

Not very many years ago, we all thought to ornament our home grounds by planting shrubs in various places about the lawn, a rose here, some lilac bushes there, a flower garden running along the sides of our walk or in the center of our green lawn. It remained for one of our good citizens of the west side to show us how much more beautiful grounds could be made, when these shrubs were artistically grouped together.

Many farmers in Michigan have in recent years thought little of raising wheat in competition with the big farms of the west, but with the grain soaring to $1.38 a bushel and the real article obtained recently for a price which is likely to greatly increase. BLOW TO WATERWAY

ENGINEERS DECLARE 14-FOOT CHANNEL WOULD BE TOO COSTLY.

PUT PRICE AT $128,000,000

Board Reports to Congress That Yearly Amount Necessary for Maintenance Would Be $5,000,000—Plan Nine-Foot Project.

Washington.—The proposed 14-foot deep waterway project from St. Louis to the Gulf received a blow when the board of engineers, created by act of Congress, declared that a 14-foot channel, which would require a $128,000,000 for construction and $5,000,000 annually for maintenance, the engineers say.

The report was based on a survey of the Mississippi river by a special board of engineers, created by act of Congress. The conclusions reached by the board of engineers are practically the same.

In considering the commercial phases of the question, the special board reported that although it had sought to obtain data on the prospective commercial value of the project, it had received very little definite information. It added that no actual large future developments of commerce are yet in sight.

The position was taken that ocean and lake vessels would require a 14-foot channel instead of a nine-foot channel, would not be an economic means of transporting products on the river. Due to the necessity of building an ocean vessel of sufficient strength to resist storms, its cost in the United States was estimated at about $7.50 for each ton of freight carried. On the great lakes the cost was estimated at $4.50. The Mississippi river steamboats and barges, capable of transporting 10,000 tons of freight on an 8 1/2-foot draft, can be built for about $2.50 per ton of freight carried, about $12 per ton of freight carried. Furthermore, it was estimated that a modern lake freighter is poorly constructed for navigating a tortuous river with a swift current. When a new type of vessel has been designed, the board suggested, there will be an immediate demand for a channel of greater depth than 14 feet.

The report of the regular board that it is not desirable to construct a navigable channel 14 feet deep from St. Louis or from Chicago to the Gulf of Mexico, the special board reached the conclusion of the special board that only a channel of nine feet depth, which does not at present ship the river would justify the great cost of a 14-foot waterway.

It is claimed that the present demands of commerce between St. Louis and the Gulf would be adequately met by an eight-foot channel of the Ohio, and a channel of not less than nine feet in depth below the mouth of the Ohio. The board's belief is that an eight-foot channel from Chicago to St. Louis, corresponding with the present eight-foot project from St. Louis to Cairo, is the least that would adequately meet the demands of commerce. It is added that such a waterway would be desirable provided its cost is reasonable. Present and prospective demands of commerce between Chicago and the Gulf would be adequately met by a channel of nine feet depth, by a served, the board reports, by a through nine-foot channel to the Gulf. Estimates for these channels have not been completed, but are promised to Congress by next December.

EDWARD EVERETT HALE DEAD

CHAPLAIN OF UNITED STATES SENATE PASSES AWAY.

Whole Country Joins in Mourning Loss of Noted Divine, Philanthropist and Author.

Boston.—The funeral of Dr. Edward Everett Hale, chaplain of the United States senate, Unitarian divine, philanthropist, author, journalist and lover of peace, who died Thursday in his home in Roxbury, took place Sunday in the South Congregational church. A delegation of senators attended the funeral.

Dr. Hale was born in this city in April, 1822, and by training, education and habit, he represented throughout the 67 years of his life the spirit of the founders of the Massachusetts Bay colony. He was graduated from Harvard in 1839. He was actively connected with the Boston Advertiser many years ago, and his first charge as a clergyman was a church in Worcester. He was a prolific writer and had for years been allied with the principal philanthropic movements of the city, state and nation.

Dr. Hale had been chaplain of the United States senate since 1904. His selection at that time to fill a vacancy was generally an acknowledgment of his intellectual ability.

It seems as if the whole country joined in mourning the loss of Dr. Hale. Messages expressing sorrow and esteem poured into the Hale household, one of the first being from President Wilson.

As an author, Dr. Hale's fame rests on his short stories, such as "The Man Without a Country," as an instigator of the social uplift, the work of the two great organizations, the Lend-A-Hand club, and his reports as a minister and pastor, his preaching in the pulpit of the South Congregational church and his preaching in many other churches were prolific of wise spiritual inspiration, while as a historian his writings have become authorities.

WRIGHT BROTHERS HONORED

AERO CLUB MEDAL GIVEN TO THE TWO OHICANS.

President Taft Presents Trophy to World-Famous Aeroplantists at the White House.

Washington.—After long years of experiment and struggle, followed by the achievements that astonished the world and won for them the admiration of foreign lands, Wilbur and Orville Wright, the Ohio aeroplantists, were accorded recognition by their fellow-Americans here Thursday. From the hands of the president of the United States they received the magnificent gold medal of the Aero Club of America.

The two modest young men from Dayton arrived here from New York in company with a large delegation of the members of the Aero Club of America. They were met by the signal corps officers, followed by Brig. Gen. James Allen, chief signal officer, and including Lieut. Frank P. Lahm, who has made many experiments with dirigible balloons. A committee of the Aero club of Washington took them to the White House.

President Taft received the Wrights in the east room, and the Wrights were presented to him by Representative Herbert Parsons of New York. Mr. Taft made a pleasant little speech, warmly praising the brothers for their achievements in conquering the air, and touching on the vast importance of their experiments to the whole civilized world. He then presented to them the gold medal of the Aero Club of America, and the Wrights responded in modesty and brevity. Most of the club's medal committee witnessed the presentation. It is composed of Albert R. Hawley, Charles M. Manly, James L. Glavin, Henry B. Hersey, Charles L. Glavin, Henry B. Hersey, and Graham Bell, Gutzon Borglum, D. W. McComb, C. J. Lake and DeWitt C. WAR ON INCOME TAX.

Taft Plan Fails to Bring Republicans Peace—Would Assess the Corporations.

Washington.—After a conference at the White House between President Taft and Senator Aldrich it was stated that the finance committee of the senate would consent to placing in the tariff bill a two per cent tax upon the net earnings of corporations if the supporters of the income tax amendment would accept it. This suggestion, it is declared, came from President Taft and was designed to prevent a split in the Republican party over the income tax feature.

Senator Aldrich communicated the plan to Senators Cummins and Borah, who are the leaders of the progressive Republicans who have favored the Cummins income tax amendment. These senators consulted with their colleagues and, as a result, the plan was repudiated by them.

DOG FINDS MURDER

CANINE INSTINCT GIVES THE NEW YORK POLICE MYSTERY TO SOLVE.

BOY HAS MUTILATED BODY

Fox Terrier Smells Packages Given to Lad to Jealousy Marks Warning-Heldosity May Be Motive.

New York.—After making rapid progress, not only in finding the missing head of the victim, but in identifying him as Samuel Bersin, a Russian painter and decorator, the New York police find themselves with a sordid murder mystery on their hands, tangled as to motive and with no direct clew to the assassins.

Robbery, jealousy or revenge, the latter two suggested motives involving a woman and a love affair, are being worked upon, but only with the usual police formality of investigating all sides of a crime.

An autopsy performed on the victim's dismembered body showed that Bersin had been partly asphyxiated before his throat was slashed and the body mutilated in a manner similar to the famous Goldensuppe case of years ago.

The dismembered body, wrapped in oil cloth, was left by a stranger in the care of a boy in Catherine street. Subsequently the man's head, which was missing, was found lying on a pile in Monroe street waiting for a young man who had given him a package containing the dismembered body. A fox terrier barked at the man in the package and barked at the man in the package and barked at the man in the package.

On the wrapper of each parcel, one of which contained the torso and the other the legs and arms, was boldly written the words, "Black Hand."

Detectives caught this with the recent activity of the secret service among "Black Hand" operators in the middle west and declare that the murdered man was the victim of an Italian blackmailing society.

Bersin had been wearing two hand-made diamond rings and these with what ever money he carried were missing when the body was found.

Mrs. Mollie Isaacson, the murdered man's sister, informed the police that Bersin had been greatly depressed for the last month because a young woman with whom he had been intimate had forbidden him to call upon her. Mrs. Isaacson said that Bersin had a jealous rival for the girl's affection and stood much in fear of the other man.

"BLACK HAND" LIKE MAFIA.

Ohio Organization Governed Like the Old Society—Many Branches Are Found.

Cincinnati.—Revelations in the extortion, plotting and murder by the "Black Hand" as uncovered by the post-office inspectors from the Cincinnati office show conclusively that the band in Columbus, Marion, Denison and Bellefontaine and other Ohio towns, was organized along the same lines as the old Mafia, but, if anything with a much better system for concealing its movements.

It is now known that the Ohio "Black Hand" or the "Society of the Banana" as its members style themselves, has a branch in Pittsburgh, Pa. and one in Chicago, and a line that extended to South Dakota. Regular meetings were held and the money obtained sent to Italy.

Novel Vessel Is Launched. New York.—A vessel of remarkable character was launched in Brooklyn Saturday in the presence of a number of scientists. It is the scientific yacht of Columbus, built for the scientific study of the sea.

DOG FINDS MURDER

CANINE INSTINCT GIVES THE NEW YORK POLICE MYSTERY TO SOLVE.

BOY HAS MUTILATED BODY

Fox Terrier Smells Packages Given to Lad to Jealousy Marks Warning-Heldosity May Be Motive.

New York.—After making rapid progress, not only in finding the missing head of the victim, but in identifying him as Samuel Bersin, a Russian painter and decorator, the New York police find themselves with a sordid murder mystery on their hands, tangled as to motive and with no direct clew to the assassins.

Robbery, jealousy or revenge, the latter two suggested motives involving a woman and a love affair, are being worked upon, but only with the usual police formality of investigating all sides of a crime.

An autopsy performed on the victim's dismembered body showed that Bersin had been partly asphyxiated before his throat was slashed and the body mutilated in a manner similar to the famous Goldensuppe case of years ago.

The dismembered body, wrapped in oil cloth, was left by a stranger in the care of a boy in Catherine street. Subsequently the man's head, which was missing, was found lying on a pile in Monroe street waiting for a young man who had given him a package containing the dismembered body. A fox terrier barked at the man in the package and barked at the man in the package and barked at the man in the package.

On the wrapper of each parcel, one of which contained the torso and the other the legs and arms, was boldly written the words, "Black Hand."

Detectives caught this with the recent activity of the secret service among "Black Hand" operators in the middle west and declare that the murdered man was the victim of an Italian blackmailing society.

Bersin had been wearing two hand-made diamond rings and these with what ever money he carried were missing when the body was found.

Mrs. Mollie Isaacson, the murdered man's sister, informed the police that Bersin had been greatly depressed for the last month because a young woman with whom he had been intimate had forbidden him to call upon her. Mrs. Isaacson said that Bersin had a jealous rival for the girl's affection and stood much in fear of the other man.

"BLACK HAND" LIKE MAFIA.

Ohio Organization Governed Like the Old Society—Many Branches Are Found.

Cincinnati.—Revelations in the extortion, plotting and murder by the "Black Hand" as uncovered by the post-office inspectors from the Cincinnati office show conclusively that the band in Columbus, Marion, Denison and Bellefontaine and other Ohio towns, was organized along the same lines as the old Mafia, but, if anything with a much better system for concealing its movements.

It is now known that the Ohio "Black Hand" or the "Society of the Banana" as its members style themselves, has a branch in Pittsburgh, Pa. and one in Chicago, and a line that extended to South Dakota. Regular meetings were held and the money obtained sent to Italy.

Portuguese Politicians Fight Duels. Lisbon, Portugal.—Centeno, Count Arnoso, a former minister, fought a fierce duel with swords in a park. The cause of the duel was political. Centeno finally ran sword through his opponent's thigh.

CARRY WATER ON HORSEBACK

Fluid a Precious Article in Remote Texas Regions—Often Transported with Animals.

Presidio, Tex.—Water is a precious article in the upper Rio Grande region of Texas. The Rio Grande itself contains an ample supply for the Mexicans and the few Americans who live in this remote region, but it is some times a difficult matter to transport and distribute the fluid. In the villages and goat ranches situated back from the river the water problem is one of the most difficult the people have to contend with. Water frequently has to be transported long distances from the Rio Grande. Where the country is mountainous and rough water carts cannot be used, and much water is carried in water bags slung over the back of a horse. These bags are evenly balanced on the back of the horse, and carry from ten to twelve gallons when filled. They are in general use among the Mexicans of the border. A pit in each side of the bag near the top affords a place for pouring in and emptying the water. The bags are made of stout canvas, and the cloth fits close around the funnels, which fit into the openings. These openings are closed by means of stoppers in the form of a cork, and a dozen or more of the water pack horses in a single train, wending their way to or from the river in charge of a Mexican driver.

OLDEST SOLDIER IN SERVICE

Maj. Gen. Rucker Has Worn Uniform Longest of Any Officer in the Army.

Washington.—Maj. Gen. Daniel H. Rucker, U. S. A., retired, who has just celebrated his ninety-seventh birthday, is the oldest soldier in the service, and has worn the uniform longer than any other officer who has followed the flag of the United States. It is hardly probable that the records of the world will disclose the names of another officer whose span of service has been equal to that of this American veteran. He lives in Washington with his daughter, Mrs. Philip H. Sheridan.

This veteran of the United States army, still active in mind and in spirit, was appointed a lieutenant in the army from the state of Michigan by President Andrew Jackson 72 years ago, and in the army he has been uninteruptedly ever since.

Gen. Rucker was born before the war of 1812 with Great Britain. He was 15 years old when Black Hawk took the warpath and he had joined the United States army before Osceola, the Seminole, had been driven to bay in the everglades of Florida.
